

New pages

I have created a few new pages today, first starting with the Calculators we carry.

This is to reduce the thought of the calculators we carry are simple math ones, and to show that they are far more powerful than that.

Second is the Vent Wells page, listing the type and size of our vent wells.

Third, but tied together is the Vents page. This page I tried something new: using and for black and grey vents.
